

The Evidence of Gyles Chorne testifeth & saith th last sabburday in the evening. sitting by the fire my wife asked me to go to bed. I told her I would go to praye. & I went to prayer. I could not utter my desires at any place, not open my mouth to speake 2 my wife did perceive itt & came towards me, & said she was coming to me.
After this in a little space I did according to my measure attend the duty Some time last week I shot an ox well out of the woods. about noone, & he laying down in the yard I went to raise him to yoke him. But he could not rise. but dragd his hinder parts as if he had bin deipt shot. But after dinner I had a catt founden last week strangely taken on the suddam. & did make me think she would have died presently. But my wife bid me knock her in the head. But I did not. & since she is well.
Another time going to duties I was interrupted for aspace. But after ward I was helpt according to my poore measure my wife hath ben wont to sitt up after I went to bed, & I have perceivd her to kneel down on the hearth. as if she were at praye, but heard nothing at the comming of saint good & others my wife was willing
